$10.95, $12.95, $16.50, $19.50

Here's a chic model that will be gone before tomorrow's closing-of Golfine, 34 inches long, with four large patch pockets, new convertible collar, to be worn high and standing or low and turned down. The sleeves have the extra large Gothic lap, trim-med with buttons as on back of garment. The belt fastens at front with buckle of self material. $16.50 is a little price for this model. Others at $10.95 to $19.50 are equally good values.

Coats for Small Women and Iuniors.

At $9.50 are Navy and Black Poplin Dress Coats, all silk lined throughout.

At $5.00 are Serge and Black and White Check Coats, with full flare and silk collar and cuffs. Third floor-6 elevators.

The price-$15.75-is ordinarily indicative of doubtful naterials or doubtful tailoring.

This after Easter sale is of Suits made to retall at $20.00 to $25.00, so that $15.75 is really a bargain

HERE TO DISCUSS PLIGHT OF WEST VIRGINIA MILITIA

State's Adjutant General Informs Gen. Mills That Legislature Failed to Provide Funds.

Adjt. Gen. John C. Bond of the West irginia National Guard is in conference with Brig. Gen. Mills, chief of the divison of militia affairs. War Department, over the situation arising in West Virginia by the failure of the tate legislature to provide funds for the militia. The shortage in West Vir- MASTER OF LANGUAGES ginia finances is due in part, it is said, to the fact that the state has "gone dry," thereby depriving the state of receipts from liquor licenses, some $600,000 annually. The legislature, which recently adjourned, failed to Served on Gen. Fitzhugh Lee's Staff make any provision for the two regi-ments of infantry which constitute the state militia.

Federal Fund Available.

The annual federal allotments to the West Virginia guard amount to somewhat more than $62,000. This is ex tion of officers and men for field serv ice, rifle practice, including purchase of ammunition and other allied disbursements. The federal government also issues arms and equipment to the militia. The principal item of expense to the states is the provision of armories for the storage of the federal milories for the storage of the rederal intributions of the state military property.

It has been suggested that if the West Virginia legislature does not provide its share for the maintenance of the state militia the necessary money might be raised by popular subscription.

SEA FOOD DEMAND LIGHT.

Small Receipts of Fish Anticipated for Next Few Days. Late yesterday afternoon there was but one vessel at the wharf market with oysters aboard, and she was a small craft from the eastern shore of Chesapeake bay. The schooners Hallie K., T. H. Kirby, sloop Volunteer, with others, arrived last night, so that there is an abundant supply today. The ending of the Lenten season has made the demand for oysters and sea food gen-erally rather light, but this light denand is expected to last but a few days, and conditions will return to nor

The storm on the river Saturday pre The storm on the river Saturday prevented oyster tongers working, and to it is due the non-arrival of vessels yesterday. The storm is also reported to have damaged nets in the lower river, and instead of the receipts of shad and herring being heavy, they were very light. Light receipts are anticipated for several days.

Reports received here state that practically all the nets on the coast from the north end of New Jersey to South Carolina were either carried away or badly damaged in the terrifice gale that swept the coast. swept the coast.
